BROCK ENRIGHT

NOVEMBER 5 - DECEMBER 17, 2011

OPENING FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4TH FROM 6-8 PM

Brock Enright's first solo exhibition at Kate Werble Gallery opens on Friday, November 4th.

The new work made for this exhibition includes an intricate series of large drawings scored into mirrored glass. These drawings seductively immerse the viewer in Enright's visual language, combining personal syntax with a broader cultural vocabulary.

Enright merges various media to create work charged with uncertainty. Transforming and mutilating quotidian objects, he creates scenes that flaunt their own precariousness and the chaotic process from which they emerged. The drama enacted within each piece stems from a unique system founded in violence, humor, poignancy, and personal history.

Born in 1976, Brock Enright received his BFA from Maryland Institute College of Art in 1998 and his MFA from Columbia University in 2002. Enright has held five solo shows including: Raising Dead Mothers, Vilma Gold Gallery, London, UK, 2005; Good Times Will Never Be The Same, Perry Rubenstein Gallery, New York, NY, 2007; Precision Of Positions, White Flag Projects, St. Louis, MO, 2008; and Satellite Son, Nicelle Beauchene Gallery, New York, NY, 2009. His work has been shown in group exhibitions at MoMA PS1, Long Island City, NY; MASS MOCA, North Adams, MA; LACE, Los Angeles, CA; Royal Academy of Art, London, UK; PERFORMA '07; Kate Werble Gallery, New York, NY; MOT, London, UK; COMA, Berlin, GE; and Anton Kern Gallery, New York, NY.

Enright's work has been reviewed in The New York Times, Art Review, Parkett, The Guardian, BBC News, V Magazine, Issue Magazine, Time Out NY, New York Post, and Rolling Stone Magazine. He is the subject of a 2009 documentary titled Good Times Will Never Be The Same. He currently lives and works in Brooklyn, New York.
